SWATOW NOTES

(From Our Gion Vorrespondent.)

SWATOW, May 30. On Saturday night (the 28th) thieves broke into the British Consulate and ransucked the servants quarters, despite the fact that there was a vigilant (alsepy) watchman on duty. Apparently it was a case of armed robbery as one rescal shot a gigman in the arm and made off. This rulling was chased for over a mile, eventually captured, and handed over to the Chinese authorities, who will no doubt deal out summary justice. Such rogues invariably have a bad time of it when they fall into the hands of native official

There is nothing heroic about Jeffries expent his size. He is a poor conversationalist, and no one but an intimate friend can induce Jeff to talk.

Jeffries does not like the limelight. He has a herror of publicity. He loves to be To interview Jeff is a job that no news-

The big fellow can hardly be called natural fighter. He has been a prodigious plodder. Learning to fight was no easy business for Jeffries. It was taught, up hill work. When he trained Jim Corbett in Carson the big fellow knew no more a week. of the science of fighting than a yearling elephant. Corbett basted him and pasted

In the twenty-thirty the panderous Jeff made connections. Corhett made a slight miscalculation in an effort to bedazzle Jeffries. The big fellow's left glove had ponderously thudded against Corbett's jaw. Corbett was as dead for a short time as though the Colossus of Rhodes had fallon on him.

It is a fact worthy of note that the next bime Jeffries and Corbett met Tommy Ryan was in Corbett's corner instead of in Jeffrien'. Ryan, it is said, is the one who made Corbett take on this fight, and is has been told the writer that Ryan told Corbett of Jeffries chicken-heartedness in that New York engagement between Jeffries and Corbet by fellow is a different type. He seems the disease germs which invade the body has been presented with a weapon as potent, over them as the modern machine gun is potent against the old flint-lock gun. This weapon is Sanatogen, one of the most powerful restoratives and revitalising agents ever given to the world. Its remarkable properties are due to its two constituents, Casein, the solid portion of pure, new milk, and Glycero-phosphate of Soda, preparation containing phosphorus in the precise form in which it exists in the body. Ig fellow has never met anyone in the Phosphorus, as every one knows, is not ang his equal in poundage or strength only as a physician has written "intimately te won his championship from Bob associated with the health of the system, itzsimmons, a man whom he outweighed and is indispensable for the discharge of the also absolutely essential for the growth He defended his title against men like of what physiologists term the cells of body, the microscopic bricks of which the human edifice is constructed." This growth is greatly interfered with In Mala-

Nothing does this so well as the vitality of the blood as this preparathousand physicians in the world because no secret has over been made of its constituents and they realise its overwhelming How rapidly Sandrogon of the body blood after Angenia may be judged from the fact that one eminent physician records that the red blood corpuscies in a patient increased eighty thousand per cubic millimetre in a week, and the percentage of red colouring matter in them advanced from 61% to 62.5%, while another patient, who was unable to take any solid food and was losing weight rapidly so improved in a fortnight that the red corpuscles increased two hundred thousand per cubic milli-metre, their red colouring matter from 48% to 52%, and she was able to resume her household duties, completely cured of the terrible meinneholia from which she was suffering. Children are especially liable to Malaria and its pernicious after effects which may delay their development and stunt their growth. When given Sanatogen they rapidly improve. One child who at three years old, in consequence of Malaria, weighed only half-a-pound more than it did when it was a year and a half, was given a small quantity of Sanatogon daily, and its weight at once began to go up half-a-pound Just as Malaria causes wasting in children, it makes adults prematurely old, in consequence of the depression of the vitality of the system. This condition is ,, rapidly cured by Sanatogen, which removes the prematurely old look and soon substitutes for the feeble will and listless spirit a fundamentals of boxing the first time they healthy interest in normal pursuits.

An exceedingly interesting pamphlet on the subject of Malaria has been written by a physician who had a wide experience of wallopings that Corbett gave him and it in the tropics. In order to give this momentous publication, "Malaria, "its momentous publication, "Malaria, "its Causes and Effects," the widest publicity, the proprietors of the copyright have instructed Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co., Hongkong, to distribute a limited number of copies free of charge, to anyone who may feel interested in it, and will send a post card mentioning the China Mail. (From Our Own Correspondent.) EDINBOROU, May 3. SWEET LEHRINZO

The fifth annual dinner of "Compan Phiobaicoan Lunnain" (London Society of Pipers) was held on Saturday evening in the Holborn Restaurant, and was a most successful gathering. In the absence of the chief. Lord Semphill, the president, Colonel H. R. MacKenzie, occupied the chair; and the company included Kaid Sir Harry MacLean, Sir William Johnston, Bart.; Captain Gilbert Kennedy, Captain H. L. MacLean, Lord Tenderden, Colonel Sir Aubone Fife, and Colonel the Viscount Maitland.

Lord Charles Beresford reviewed the Glasgow Battalion of the Boys' Brigade, about 7,000 boys being on parade. The number of emigrants who left Glasgow on Saturday by three large liners for Canada and the United States constituted a new record. They totalled about 4300 passengers, bailing from all parts of Sectland, together with a small number of

The principal May Day celebration in Scotland took place on Sunday morning, when some hundreds of people ascended Arthur's Seat, Edinburgh, It had no political signification; the early risers were merely in search of the pleasant and harmless May dew.

By the sale of the historic estate of Dupplin, the property of the Earl of Kinnoull, there has been concluded what is believed to be the largest transaction in Scotland for many years. The estate has been in the hands of the Hays of Kinnoull for centuries. The purchaser is Sir John Dewar, Bart., M. P. for Invernessshire, the head of the great distilling firm. The estate extends to nearly 12,000 acres. Dupplin Castle, distant about six miles from Perth, was rebuilt in 182% and is situated in the centre of beautiful policy grounds. The rental amounts to about something over a quarter of a million. The Scottish National Young Men's Christian Association carry on a social service among the Territorials at the various camps. This year, with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief and the officers of the Navy, they will undertake similar work for the men of the Fleet when they are ashore at Cromarty and Invergor-don and elsewhere in Scotland. They will provide entertainments, a postal service, facilities for letter-writing and, above all sleeping accommodation. The Rev. Murdo Mackenzie, F.C., Inverness, says that at marriages in the Highlands temperance is being more and more observed. At funerals, too, there is little or no whisky, where in former years it would have been thought a disgrace to have a burial without drink.

By an outbreak of fire in an extensive sawmill in Kolvinhaugh Street, Over-newton, Giasgow, occupied by Messra J. and A. Stewart (Limited), a Jarge area of buildings and timber were destroyed, involving a loss of about $60,000.

The late Earl of Crawford, for some years Lieutenant-Colonol of the 1st Cameron Highlanders, has left £22,778.

The marriage of Lord Balfour of Burleigh's cldest daughter, the Hon. -Mary Bruce, to Major Hope, late of the King's Royal Rifles, son of the late Rev. Charles Augustus Hope, and nephew and heir of Sir Alexander Hope, Bart, of Pinkie, Musselburgh, brought a large company together at St Margaret's, Westminster, including re-presentatives of a number of Scottish families. Major Hope was accompanied by his brother. Mr Philip C. Hope, as groomsman, and the Hon. Mary Bruce was led to the alter by her father, Lord Balfour of Burleigh. The Hop. Jean Bruce was the principal brid smaid, and there were also four child-ren,—the Hon. Victoria Bruce, sister; the Hon. Margaret Sinclair, cousin (daughter, of Lord and Lady Pentland); Miss Dalia Carroll, cousin; and Miss Mary Steel-Maitland. There were five hundred wedding presents:

Mr North Dalrymple-Hamilton, late Scots Guards, elder son of the late Colonel the Hon North Dalrymple Hamilton, and nephew of the Eurl of Stair, and the Lady Marjome Coke, elder daughter of the Earl and Countess of Leicester The marriage (which was a "silver and white" one) took place at St. Peter's Church, Enton Square,

THE EDUCATION QUESTION.

In one sense the somewhat belated report of the Educational Settlement Committee, of which an outline has been supplied by Renter, comes at opportune moment. For "thoroughly sick and fired of the petry partisan quibbling which has in the world of characterised the immediate past, the public at Home will now, we imagine, be hardly in a mood to reopen a bitter, long-drawn-out controversy which would involve many a weary month of heated strife and strenuous battling. Rather would it appear more reasonable deduction to make that the people are, on the contrary, in that frame of mind in which they are willing education is still advocated as an into accept any fair and reasonable compromise, come from whatever source it may. This view seems to be borne out by the circumstance that the newspapers of both the leading political parties welcome the recommendations embraced in the report. Without surveying the question at great length it would be well to recall a few points which will help to a better understanding of the present position than would otherwise be possible. It full will be borne in mind that in 1902 the Unionist" Government, awed at the chaotic state of education and educational administration in England and Wales, made a bold and successful attempt to grapple with the question. By abolishing School Boards and by placing all elementary educational establishments under the authority of a special Committee of County or Town Councile as the case might be, the Act established for the first time one authority to control education of all kinds and of all degrees. In order to accomplish such a desirable state of offairs it became necessary to bargain with the denominational "school" managers" who had for so many years, thanks to the generosity of voluntary subscribers been able to place educational facilities in the way of many, especially in made until 6.15 p.m. rural districts, who would otherwise have been left uncared for. It, of course! has to be admitted that through declining contributions many of these voluntary schools were falling away in efficiency.

schools; the Church required funds What was more reasonable, therefore, whereby the voluntary schools were to be assured inancial aid from the supplying the buildings and keeping them in thorough repair, the church managers where to be granted athe concession of deciding upon the being made to have one of the largest and character of the religious instruction to be provided therein? True some keen denominationalists saw in the accept ance of rate-aid the future possibility of full public control being ultimately the Archbishops of New York, St. Paul, demanded over all branches of instruction, religious as well as secular." But the bargain was scaled. Then came the tumult. Fire-brand Nonconformists denounced the now legalised agreement in vicious language. Passive Resistance sprang into existence, and the merest suspicion of a grievance was so magnified, that to pose as martyrs became the Inshion of the hour in Dissenting circles. Four years passed and then the Liberals took over the reins of Government. Of course, an Education Bill loomed large in their programme, but the ill-drawn measure of Mr Burress had an ignominous end being ultimately dropped when the House of Lords insisted on thoroughly just and necessary amendments. Then in turn came the Bills fathered by Mr McKenna and Mr Runcinan, but these, like their predecessor," were abandoned after being largely disowned by the very people in whose interests they were framed. Since that time Parliament has not been 'troubled with any further Education Bills. In spite of the alleged burning grievances over which such fussiwas made things stand exactly as

into power in 1906. Space will not allow of any further analysis of the positions assumed by the conflicting parties, but enough has been written to show that the question is of so large and complex a character as to allow of its being viewed from many standpoints. That in a some respects the Nonconformists have we will allow, but on the other hand and that of the chain $75.

due weight must be given to the ness said, "I do not know y sacrifices which other bodies have made placing their school buildings at the and lasting settlement is within reach we sincerely pray. Based on the principle of compromise, the recommendations made by the Educational, Settlement Committee should be honestly considered by all who wish for the welfare and true progress of our educutional institutions. We are gratified to note that the preservation of religious tegral part of school life, and that it is held that administrative arrangements should favour sincerity religious teaching. We are quite alive to the possibility that the narrowminded may wish to split hairs on what does and what does not constitute religious education, but still we believe there are in the ranks of both parties men who can find a common ground of settlement. There only remains one criticism to be made on the recommendations. We cannot see how in the country districts"it will be practicable to give effect to the suggestion that a child should not be compelled to attend a denominational school against the wish of its parents. As things are there is a "Conscience Clause" which enables parents to withdraw "their children from school during the hour set apart for religious instruction if

THE ITALIAN CONVENT

The Italian Convent in Hongkong was honoured by a visit from His Highness the Maharajah of Mourbhaul shortly before noon on Tuesday. The visit to an establishment which, by reason of its wide functions. of a henevolent and educational characters. almost assumes the features of a quasipublic institution, denotes His Highness" interest, not only in the bountiful sights of mercial institutions, but in these aleo having for their object the care of the poor, the upbringing of the young, and the forming of character by an educational system adapted strictly in accordance with Governmental requirements.

On arrival at the Convent. His Highness was received by the Superioress, Mother Teresa Martioneia, His Lordship Bishop Pozzoni and Chevalier Z. Vol. celli, Consul-General for Italy in Hongkong, who takes a very lively interest in the work and development of the Italian Convent schools. At the invitation of the Superioress the Maharajah made an inspection of the school and through the orphanage, both in its Chinese and European sections. The kindergarten and infant class rooms were the first to be visited, and as usual on such WITH WHOM WILL HE SIDE? occasions, the distinguished visitor was pleased to note the bright and cheerful faces of the tiny " tore" who regarded their surroundings and emp oynicat with a happy countenance. The classes of the prinning schools were then visited and a few questions fr m the visitors elicited informative answers from the teachers and intelligent replies from the girls themselves. Crossing over from the old Convent building to the new and stately structure on the grounds of Rosehill" the higher standards. were gone throught; the beautiful chapel with its decorative stained glass windows being a subject of note en route. The visitors could not fail, to observe the spacious character of the lefty rooms which provide not only ample floor space for the number of scholars in each, but are so thoroughly well-lighted and ventilated that they are very models, of apartments of the kind in a large day and boarding school like the Convent. A very pleasing ceremony took place when the visitors assembled in the room sat apart for the Boarders. A little Parsec girl-Miss Bestrice Elias who, by the way, is an orphan child, took the Maharajah by surprise when she begged leave to say a few words on behalf of the pupils of the school on the occasion of so distinguished.

She said :- Your Highness. It is a great honour to us that your Highness has soon fit to visit the Italian Convent and this School. We wish to thank you very much indeed, for so distinguished a visit and for your Highness' interest in the Institution which it evinces. You can feel sure that so much kindness is not lost on us or on the Sisters who look after and instruct the large number of khildren under their kind care. We appreciate very highly the trouble you have taken in coming to the Convent, especially when your stay in Hongkong is going to be such a short one. Before your Highness leaves, we wish to say that we will not forget your visit to us. and that we will pray that Your Highness may have a safe and pleasant voyage round the world and that when you reach home in ndi you will sometimes think of the Italian Convent Schools in Hongkong, The Maharajah spoke briefly in roply and expressed the pleasure it had given him to go to the Convent and his thanks. to the Superioress for the opportunity she had given him to go over such an admirable institution. In fact, he had no idea that Hongkong possessed an institution of that sizo with the object and scope it had laid down to carry out. "His Highness again thanked the Sisters for the trouble they had gone through in showing him over the When His Highness visited the needlework department, with the large number of Chinese girls engaged in their fine drawnwork, he inquired of the Reverend Mother how it was that she managed to make provision for such a large number of orphan children and what became of them all in-after years. To these and all other questions which followed, Mother Martinois gave suitable replies, laying stress on her acknowledgement of the munificence and assistanceof benevolent citizens in Hongkong and visitors who came from time to time. The drawing and painting class was also visited, and in this department, too. His Highners was pleased to testify to the careful teaching of the Sister in charge who since the institution of the class has turned out, quite a number of young lady artistes in the persons of willing Chinese girls. Just before leaving, the children were having their midday recess in the large playground when His Highness had occasion to see them at play in the same way that he saw them at work just an hour The Maharajah of Mourbhanj's visit to the Convent was quite an interesting event.

THE FUNERAL OF THE KING.

The London correspondent of the Osaks Mainichi sont the following account of the funaral of King Edward to his journal, from whence it was translated by the Robe

Loudon, May 20, 6.10 p.m. After Westminster Hall was closed last night the crowds that had gathered outside romained in the street all night in order to secure positions for to-day's coremony. Subsequent to the closing of the Hall to the public, 200 selected members of the Police Force were allowed in to see the bior, and after they had retired the foreign diplomatists and military officers were ushered in. Ameird scone was presented as the lights ranged about the catafalque illuminated the golden braid of the diplomatic officials and the variegated uniforms of the military officers. Just then a fearful thunderstorm burst over the city, the claps resembling the discharge of 10-inch guns The peals of thunder a woke all London and the vivid lightning illuminated the Abboy and Westminster Hall in a way that those who witnessed the scene will never forget. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of Then darkness shut down again. Every-funeral procession began all work ceased for arrily of great personages, bearing so many Needless to say, all the Company's stately titles, served to excite the curiosity tended to banish grief. Thanks to official courtesy I was pr vileged to view, the vast procession both from the front and rear of the Government Offices in Whitehall.' And in truth it was a wonderful scene as the procession, which was one and a half miles long, was outlined against the vivid green foliage of the trees and expanses of turf backed by the iridescent waters of the lake in St. James' Park. Against such a background the array of dignitaries moved in their dazzling gold and crimson uniforms and holmets and breast-plates of silvered steel. Every colour of the rainbow was presented as the representatives of foreign Armies moved slowly by. There were special officers of high rank from Austria, Bulgaria, Denmark, Gormany, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Spain, and Sweden ;-officers from the Armies, officers from the Navies of these Powers. Then there were the uniforms worn by Officers from Japan, India, Montenegro, Egypt, countries. Every variety of headgear was . Lammert and P. Currie (Craigen- in specidence. There were the black gower) beat Mohler and Wong Po Keung | bearskins of some forces and the steel helmets worn by others, flashing in the sunlight; there were haps and cockades with their plumes and feathers "of all shapes and colours swaying in the breeze. As the long procession wonded its way onward the bejewelled Decorations and Orders on the Mouarchs' breasts gleamed in the sunlight and almost blinded one. Prince Fushimi, who rode beside the grand Duke Michael of Russia, excited much attention, his Oriental type of countenance and his rich uniform and decorations holding the general gaze. The presence of many richly-turbaned Indian officers reminded spectators of England's rule over 300 million souls. A mighty impression was made by the passage of the War Lords and Sen Lords, the fighting men of the nation, followed by the great statesmen and rulers of the Empire. Field-Marshals Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener. with their batons, and bronzed Admirals with their breasts ablaze with the insigniss A King in Khaki, by H. K. North London second with a Scottish Archer, and the Premier, Mr. The Malay States Rifles were Asquith, wearing the uniform of an Elder Brother of Trinity House, rode amid the cavalcade of Kings which followed behind King Edward's coffin. One of the most imposing and most observed of all was the Kaiser, whose appearance caused a thrill amongst the crowds as he rode proudly on the King's right, dressed in his uniform of a British Marshal, as erect as a dragoon and managing his stood with perfect skill, though holding the golden baton of a Field-Marshal. From mouth to mouth along the whole route run whispers, "That's the Kaiser." The press references to the Kaiser, it may here be noted, are most sympathetic and complimentary. The Pall Muli says: " King George looked pale and worn beside the bronzed and martial figure of his Imperial Guest." The Standard and the Telegroph admit that by King Edward'

death the German Emperor regains the premier placeamong European diplomatists.

Altogether, the Kaiser made an excellent mpression yesterday and by his coming yer without pomp, cluthed as an ordinary

Englishman; by his subdued, sympathetic, and courtly demeanour, and by his refusal of a salute on arrival at Port Victoria he has won many hearts. The Delly Mail says :-- "There is no Sovereign whose presence will bring more solace to English Westminster in the morning the Kaiser courteously assisted the Queen-Mother to Soldiers Club Tournament.

The whole railway line from Paddington to Windsor was guarded by the military and railway officials. The Royal train was preceded by six specials filled with mourners. The old borough of Windsor was filled, fully 100,000 people assembling there, crowding every available balcony stand, window and roof. St. George's Chapel was left unadorned save for the alter, which was decorated with lilies. walls were hung with the Banners of the Knights of the Garter. All the churches in Windsor tolled their bells as the procession passed on its way to the Castle grounds. The Monarche followed the coffin on foot through Windsor Park. The gun carriage bearing the coffin was hauled by a long line of Bluejackets. The magnificent cortinge was well offset by the giant oaks and the luxuriant vegetation of hearts than the Kaiser." The coffin was placed before mittal portion of the Burial Service. Wreaths are reaching Windsor in hundreds. Six thousand have already arrived, and half an acre of the lawn near St. George's Chapel is filled with them. The Mikado's wreath measures 5 feet 6 in. in diameter and is especially noticeable, being composed of hundreds of the choicest orchids. The railings in Parliament Square and at Marble Arch, the Venetian masts along the route, and all lamp posts were hung with laurel wreaths sent by innumerable individuals and institutions.

CORRESPONDENCE.

(To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL. Sir,-I have been a resident in coas ports in China and can testify to the success attending the system of underground tanks for storing the rainfall from each house which you advocate. I hope some of the leading men of Hongkong will take up your idea-Mr Marray Stewart and Mr Edward Osborne for choice -for in my opinion it would solve the Hongkong's future watersuccessfully, economically and rati nally. An ordinance such as that inoperation in Bermuda should surely be possible in Hongkong. Enclosing my card, I am Yours truly,"

OLD CHINA COASTER. (To the Edilor of the "Cities Mail.") Sir - I read your leading article last night with considerable interest, for the question one's mind than a upperment in every

"Have you kny hope that the great ones in Hongkong, who alone can effect anything in this Colony, will look upon your suggestion with favour ! If they only could then Hongkong would not be tong in instituting the system you advocate. How often the solution of a big problem lies in the very simplest of plans.

Yours, etc.,

(To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL. 1) Sir,-I think you have hit upon the proper solution for our water troubles-The only question which arises in my mind is whether the opposition of the landlords, who would no doubt strenuously object to go in for the expense of constructing proper underground tanks, would not prevent anything of the kind being carried out here. Besides, the P. W. D. are said to frown upon any other solution than the enlargement of the Tytam water works. Sincerely Yours,

PESSIMIST.

THE SCARCITY OF WATER.

" (To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL.") Sir,-Appearances are deceptive. I am not a civil engineer, neither do I upderstand the technicalities of the method of water distribution adopted at the Civil Service, the Police or any other Recreation

It is, however, satisfactory to learn from "Green Ranger" that the water used on the grounds mentioned does not come from the public mains. I did not assert that it did_I said "apparently." Now that we have his assurance all cause for misapprehension will be removed. - Yours, etc.

"My husband has suffered for years th this distressing at different times wi complaint--burning, irritat-ing rash on his arms, legs and down the centre of his back. He had tried other remedies but it did no good until he tried Cuticura Ointment. With the first night's use he got more rest for of course he slways sul-

He would resutch till the pimples bled. He persevered with the Cuticura Ointment every night and within a week he was completely cured. Thanks to Cuti-cura he has not had any more trouble of the old complaint. "My little girl, since vaccination, always had a rash. On the lower part of her head and neck would form white patches. I tried a lot of ointments and cold cream for this but they never did much good. She would scratch and make places bleed but she soon stopped her scratching after using Cuticura Ointment for a fortnight. She has had no return of it. She is five years old.

"My baby boy had, teething rash on his arms," legs and back for six weeks.

It used to keep us both awake all night. He would keep scratching his little lags till he really made them bleed. I used to try different continents for it. They did not do much good but since using Cuticura my haby hasn't suffered any more with teething rash. It cured him in about a week. It did not take a whole box of Cuticura to cure the lot of them.
